Timely Talks With Teenagers Daniel Kauffman

Softcover, 64 pages. $4.15

This book is intended for young people just developing into adulthood. A few years ago you were mere children. In a few years more (if God permits) you will be full-grown men and women, bearing the burdens of life. As you are growing in body, in mind, and in knowledge, are you growing spiritually? May you not only be wiser and more capable, but also better and more useful. When, in the final reckoning, you will be called on to give account of what you did in this life, may it be that you have chosen wisely: THE ONE THING NEEDFUL.

No More Strangers Mary June Glick

Softcover, 322 pages. $9.99

Mary June Glick, her husband Melvin, and their children spent ten years as missionaries in Belize. In the 1970s, life in the Creole village of Double Head Cabbage meant doing without electricity, modern communications, and nearby medical help. Belize City was only thirty miles away, but getting there to stock up on supplies, pick up mail, or run errands could involve a whole day of riding passenger trucks, ferrying a river, and waiting patiently to complete errands. In spite of all the adjustments, the Glick family fell in love with the country and its friendly people. This memoir contains fascinating stories of life in Belize, excerpts from the author's letters home, photographs, and even a few mouth-watering Creole recipes. Teens/Adults.

Getting Along With People God's Way & Study Guide John Coblenz

We all have relationships-but what kind? Do we generally get along with people, or is there a trail of conflict in our past? Do our relationships matter to God? Does He care when a husband and wife turn their backs on each other? When children sob in their bedrooms? When parents lie sleepless at night because of wayward children? When teenagers stomp out of the house? When in-laws feel left out? Does it matter to God when church business meetings get tense? Is He concerned about how we talk to each other in the body of Christ? Or how we talk about each other?

School had become a nightmare for Hannah & Abner Yoder. They respected their parents for taking a stand against modern education. But the parents hadn't dreamed that the officials would actually seize the children and take them away to an orphanage! After such an experience, Ben Yoder was ready to go pioneering with his family again, to a country where the government would not tell him how to educate his children. Mexico seemed to be the answer. Cheap, fertile land and few school laws-it sounded like the right place to go. Paradise Valley was the name of the area where the Yoders bought land. Was it paradise? Oh, no indeed. All sorts of interesting and disappointing and even frightening experiences awaited the Yoders in Mexico. But in the end it was worth it all, for God's loving care watched over them. Children/Adolescents.

Good News

The darkness and silence was punctuated by a bright light and an angelic voice. The tidings? "Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you; ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger" (Luke 2:10-12). This angelic announcement to drowsy shepherds likely took them by complete surprise—and understandably so! But what was this "good news" the celestial herald proclaimed? Humanly speaking, they may have expected a repeal of Caesar Augustus's new tax law, or wool and lamb price increases at the local auction house. From a divine perspective, however, good news is not limited to dollars and cents. Following are several observations of what made the angelic announcement "good news."

Approximately 400 years had elapsed since Malachi, the last Old Testament prophet had spoken. He foretold of the forerunner of the Messiah, John the Baptist, but that prophesy remained unfulfilled. Four centuries of anticipation covers the lifespan of many people. During that interval there were numerous voices, but no "thus saith the Lord." Therefore, any word from God after 4 centuries would have been good news. And good news it was! In fact, the tidings of the birth of Christ were so good it had to be announced without delay. Although it took the shepherds by complete surprise, an angelic host was a most appropriate way to break that 400-year heavenly silence.

For centuries, the Jews were without a king. They were political prisoners, first of the Babylonians, then the Medes and Persians, the Greeks, and then the Romans. Israel's political slavery was reminiscent of her bondage to sin, from which the Savior would deliver. While the Jews anticipated a physical deliverance, God promised freedom to spiritual captives. The enemy, sin, is a tyrannical master. More ruthless and demanding than any political figure, sin's power had to be reckoned with. Who would take on this deadly enemy? Who would accomplish this task? King Jesus would! During that spiritually dark time a birth announcement was proclaimed in the Judean countryside. In the dark of night, the Savior was born. He would emancipate spiritual prisoners, and that indeed was good news!

example, decisions affecting many residents of a country are generally communicated by its government or president. Similarly, policy changes in college or university are often conveyed via the president. In such circumstances, other dignitaries are usually standing by, observing the proceedings. When the angel announced the Savior's birth, the heavenly host escorting him could not hold back from joining in the chorus of praise. They brought tidings of peace to men on earth. Can you imagine the sound of that angelic chorus? "...and on earth, peace, good will toward men." Not a message of judgment or condemnation, but of peace.

During that spiritually dark time a birth announcement was proclaimed in the Judean countryside.

Imagine how refreshing that news was after being taxed by the political ruler. And not only peace, but also good will. News of good will from heaven toward men after 400 years of silence would truly be cause for rejoicing.

In conclusion, consider how the news of the Savior's birth is still relevant for today. First, because God loved, he gave (John 3:16). The birth of Jesus is the demonstration of his love. By his birth God provides a Savior, through his death a redeemer. This is good news. Second, King Jesus conquered death and triumphed over the grave. He reigns triumphant and still sets spiritual captives free. That is also good news. Third, his grace is extended still. We are undeserving recipients of his kindness and benevolence. His favor is unmerited; his good will is toward men. That is marvelous news!

Important announcements are usually made public by significant figures within the organization. For

Administrator's Report

From the Desk of Dave Snyder

Fall is here and with it comes the reality that another year is almost gone. A year that was full of challenges, changes, and blessings. We met many people, each bringing varying accounts of difficulty, suffering, and trials. They all touched our lives. Pray for God to grant us wisdom as we continue serving in this way.

We made some changes to the newsletter financial report. An Endowment Fund income category was added as well as a Transfer to Endowment Fund. Our Endowment Fund was established in 2008 and is with Anabaptist Foundation. It is designed to earn additional income and provide a steady secondary source of funding for future ministry operations. Donors can recommend what portion of their donation DLM places in this fund. Donations earmarked for the Endowment Fund will be entered in the income account Endowment Fund Donations and then transferred to the Endowment Fund. This transfer will appear in the Transfers to Endowment Fund category in our quarterly reports. We recently reviewed all donations received through Anabaptist Foundation and discovered that additional funds need to be transferred to the Endowment Fund (per donor recommendation). The transfers will be completed as quickly as our operating fund allows. We are committed to honoring the funding recommendations of DLM's supporters.

We thank you for the many ways you support DLM and make it possible for the work to continue. May God richly bless you in this coming year.

House Mom's Report

From the Desk of Kim Beachy

Many of you might be wondering who I am. Yes, I'm a new face for Deeper Life Ministries. My name is Kimberly Beachy. My parents are Merle and Sue Beachy. I come from the beautiful mountains of Free Union, Va. The flat lands of Plain City, Ohio are quite different for me, but are nonetheless very beautiful. I came to Deeper Life Ministries in February of this year and am filling the position of Domestic/House Mom. Some hobbies of mine are reading, making crafts, decorating, cooking, and baking.

Coming here has broadened my world in different ways: meeting my different people from different walks of life, and relating with them. Also it has broadened my own personal life, relationally and spiritually.

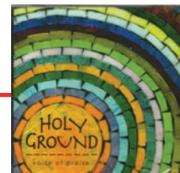

Labor Day weekend, Deeper Life Ministries was blessed with a youth group from Ontario, Canada. Their purpose was to help with work projects for Deeper Life. 49 youth and 3 couples came. The hands of many willing workers sure made the work fly. The girls worked on a painting project and the fellows did various projects outside. They tore out a chain link fence, cut down a tree, split the wood, and did some asphalt patching. We thank them on the behalf of Deeper Life Ministries.

The Celestial Message Morris Yoder

Hardcover, 179 pages. $27.99

Our universe stretches across the vastness of space. There, giant galaxies spangle the heavens and mammoth stars blaze with energy. Planets and moons, asteroids and comets, clouds and dust create stunning scenes of wonder. The enormity of it all dazzles us. Earth-dimmed vision cannot conceptualize the distances and dimensions of an infinite universe, and our minds struggle to comprehend the reason for it all. Does the universe have any connection with our daily lives on Earth? Is there anything to be gained by studying it, by learning more about the vast spread of space that surround our planet? The Celestial Message answers these questions with a resounding "Yes!" In simple language and splendid photography, it unveils the mysteries of the universe, providing the reader with a wealth of amazing facts. It moves beyond the facts, however, to contemplate the purpose of our universe.

Trailblazer: A Visionary's Journey Rachael Lofgren

Softcover, 225 pages. $11.49

As the young rebel rode through town on his spirited horse, he reveled in the the freedom he had to make his own choices. He could have fun showing off his riding prowess. He could choose his own friends. Someday he would go anywhere he liked, and he would show his family and community all he could do. But a change was in the making, and Sanford found it harder and harder to enjoy his selfish pursuits. And when he finally yielded himself to God, he found that the real adventures were only beginning. Now instead of making a name for himself, he wanted to glorify God's name. And God was faithful to provide Sanford with many opportunities to do just that. When a man who is eager for new challenges embraces God's call, anything can happen. God used Sanford to expand His kingdom in new and innovative ways. Yet, while the trailblazer experienced many exciting adventures, his life consisted primarily of serving God in ordinary days filled to the brim with hard work, difficult questions, and relational challenges. Teens/Adults.

Life In A Global Village

Gary Miller
Softcover, 112 pages. $3.99

Our perspective of wealth and what we need to live is affected by the people around us. What if the world population were shrunk to a village of 100 people, and you lived in that village? How would your neighbors live? What would they believe? How would that change your perspective? This book gives a glimpse into the world outside our own communities and helps us see the world through the eyes of Jesus.

What Happened To Our Money? Gary Miller
